

The Augusta Symphony is a 115-musician orchestra located in Augusta, Georgia, entering its 71st season in September 2025.

Reports to: Music Director

Summary

The Augusta Symphony seeks a talented, aspiring conductor to work closely with the Music Director and any guest conductors. The Assistant Conductor will serve as cover conductor for all classical and pops performances and may conduct educational or family concerts as assigned.

The Assistant Conductor shall receive per-service compensation as well as mentorship and tutelage through the Music Director. This is a one-year position with the possibility of a one-year extension. Candidates must be eligible for employment in the United States.

Responsibilities

- Be present at and fully prepared to conduct rehearsals and concerts, in case of main conductor's absence
- Conduct off-stage music as required
- May be assigned to conduct in educational and/or family concert settings
- May be assigned to conduct Pops concerts (with additional compensation)
- Assist with multimedia performances, recordings and streaming projects
- Assist with programming (including Pops) if necessary
- Attend and participate and be involved in Augusta Symphony's fundraisers and social events

Requirements

- Possess three to five years of professional or collegiate conducting experience
- Possess broad knowledge of the orchestral repertoire
- Possess knowledge of the Pops repertoire and possess willingness to research and learn
- Must be present in Augusta, Georgia, for all orchestra services

Compensation

Position is compensated on a per service basis with a maximum annual salary of $10,000.

To Apply

Send cover letter, resume and video links to positions@augustasympphony.com. No phone calls, please.

Send three (3) videos of the candidate conducting an orchestra or ensemble, shot from the orchestra's perspective. Videos must be 5-10 minutes in length and include a variety of repertoire.

Select candidates may be asked to interview in person in Augusta, Georgia.

Deadline to apply: August 1, 2025

.